

SALUTE TO THE MEN OF H&S COMPANY

Just remember, you're the best, and I will always be proud of you and remember you. So spoke "Bill" Ward, our old first sergeant, that day in France, when he was to leave after two years in training camps and in operation against the enemy. At that time, our hearts were filled with many memories, memories that I hope we will always keep. At that time we thought that the job of freedom winning was only half through, but with God's help, we have suddenly come through the darkness of war and into the sunlight of peace.

Now, it is my earnest desire to pay tribute to the finest outfit in the greatest army in the world. Your accomplishments would fill a volume, but it is not our intention to remember them, rather, you, as you performed them.

At this time, I desire to express my gratitude and appreciation to each of you personally, and this because you are the men that you are, and because of the way that you did your jobs.

To the officers and men of H&S company - Thanks - - - - -

RALPH J. KNUTSEN
Capt CE

REMEMBER

There is no need of saying goodbye for there is never going to be a goodbye for the men of this regiment. We will always live together in each of our own memories. When you have each taken your place in civilian life you will every once in a while be certain to remember some of the characters, the good times, the "Chicken", the funny experiences, and the times of seriousness we each had together. We just can't forget Commercy, Fontainbleau, and Metz. No this regiment will never have a goodbye for it shall always remain alive in our minds.

No one will ever forget the supreme sacrifices of Spencer Covington, William Nee, Farrell Miller, and Captain Hendrick. Their memory will always be sacred to us.

My thought to you is "Be true to your God, to your Friends, and Yourself."

Sincerely Yours,

HOLY JOE.
Clifford H. Winford Jr.
